

We have designed this new LL.M. programme to reflect the modern business context and to give professionals a solid grasp of the theory and practice of the implications of the global marketplace. The LL.M. programme will enable students to better develop and implement legal strategies in major organisations. The programme offers a unique and innovative blend of core legal subjects ranging from European Union business law to the legal aspects of investment in emerging economies with which Portugal has historic and cultural ties, giving the programme a truly transglobal dimension. In addition to the core curriculum, students will have the opportunity to choose from a wide variety of specialised seminars, allowing them to tailor their studies to their interests.

As the demand for professionals with a firm academic background in business law continues to grow, we believe that the LL.M. programme will dramatically improve the career opportunities not only of recent graduates, but also of legal practitioners and aspiring middle to senior level managers with some legal experience, background or interest.

Programme structure

The LL.M. programme will be taught in a modular and sequential manner, and courses will not be taken simultaneously but consecutively. A course will only begin after the previous course's exam has been taken. It is possible to register for individual courses that are given in the full-time programme. Students who successfully complete the LL.M. programme are granted direct access to the Doctorate Programme in Legal Sciences offered by the School of Law of the University of Minho.

The University of Minho

The University of Minho was founded in 1973 and is among the most prestigious institutions of higher education in Portugal. It is a fully accredited university in which over 15,000 students are enrolled. The School of Law is situated on the University's campus of Braga. Braga is one of the oldest Portuguese cities and one of the oldest cities in the world. It was founded in Roman times and was named Bracara Augusta and boasts more than 2,000 years of history. It has, nevertheless, one of the youngest populations in Europe (it was proclaimed to be the European city with the youngest residents in 1989 and was the European Capital of Youth in 2012), which makes it a highly dynamic and energetic city. Braga is situated on the northern coast of Portugal, in the Minho region, which borders Galicia (Spain), in the north, and the Atlantic Ocean, on the west.
